Working on To Become a King is to Become a Killer has been a wild ride from start to finish; from approaching Zoe with my vague idea, to watching the first full run it has been a rollercoaster of emotions but I wouldn't change it for the world. The people I have met during this production have kept me going, and I will be forever grateful for the memories. Kate, you have kept me sane during many late night rehearsals and you went above and beyond the role of assistant director and I will forever love you for that. Nadia, Alice, Sky, Barney and Caitie, you've all been there as shoulders to cry on and I love you all so much. Jenny and Jordan, you've done so much for this show and I can't thank you enough. Zoe, thank you for helping me make this weird dream in to a reality. To my cast: you are all amazing, and you're all going to amazing hints in the theatre. And finally, Cam, long live the socialist fringe season!

Every year, one in four of us will experience a mental health problem. But hundreds of thousands of people are still struggling. This term, the NNT's season charity is Mind. Mind is a mental health charity based in England and Wales set up in 1946. It offers easily accessible information and counselling to those with mental health issues. Due to its stature, it is also able to produce real change by successfully lobbying authorities on issues regarding mental health. Its lobbying has proven results, such as in the Mental Health Units Act 2018. There are 132 independent affiliated Mind associations, including one for Nottinghamshire, offering services such as local supported housing and self-help support groups.

We have chosen this charity in memory of one of our members, Rohanna Brown. Rohanna was involved in around 14 different productions over her time at NNT, and was a recognised and loved figure around the theatre.
